

LOT 1047

A Japanese 'clobbered' blue and white porcelain tokkuri (sake flask), Edo period, of slightly tapered square form, the shoulder painted in underglaze blue with a band of leafy karakusa scrolls, the sides painted with tree peonies, later embellished in iron red, green and gilt with further flowerheads, grasses and fence, unmarked, height 18.5cm.

Estimate: £300 - £500

Condition Report

1047. Good condition, no significant damage or repairs. Typical light surface scratches and wear to glaze and enamels.

Created: Fri, 6th November 2026 15:02