LOT 1250

A Chinese gilded and lacquered hexagonal offering box (chanab), late Qing dynasty, made for the Straits and Peranakan Chinese, the six-sided cover with gilt decoration, the top with Buddha's hand citron, one side with a figural scene, the other side with a pavilion in landscape and precious vessels, the stand with pierced gilt gallery above carved and pierced gilt figural panels and lotus apron, raised on six Buddhist lion feet and plinth base, height 25.2cm.

Estimate: £100 - £150

Condition Report

1250. The box and stand are in generally good condition with typical surface wear and scratches, but no significant damage. As can be seen in the images on our website, the decoration to the exterior of the box has some light wear, but is still pretty fresh, the top panel is slightly more worn. Couple of splits to corner joins and some minor chips to joins. The stand appears to also be in good condition with some typical minor nicks and chips, and one apron panel has been broken and re-glued.
