LOT 1730

Six glass patty pans, mid-18th century, of varying size, each with flared circular body and fold-over rim, diameter of largest 7.7cm, together with a diminutive glass dish, diameter 8.5cm, a smoke shade and a group of other glassware, including a toddy lifter and two graduated sets of glasses in cylindrical leather cases (some faults).

Estimate: £100 - £150

Condition Report

1730 - Overall the Lot is in generally good condition with no significant damage or repairs. The only item with a significant issue is the set of interfitting gilt decorated 'V' initial glass beakers. The gilt on all is a bit worn and one of the mid-sized beakers has a broken base.
