

British and Continental Ceramics / Wednesday, 1st June 2022 / Lot 1490

LOT 1490

A collection of Doulton stoneware jugs, decanters and advertising ware, including a jug with Bellarmine mask detail, inscribed 'Fill What You Will and Drink What You Fill', height 19cm, three decanters, inscribed 'Whisky', 'Brandy' and 'Gin', and two Dewar's whisky jugs, together with a pair of Maling North-East Coast Industries Exhibition jars and covers and two other pieces of Maling (faults and restoration).

Estimate: £60 - £100

Condition Report

PLEASE NOTE - ONLY THE STONEWARE ITEMS IN THIS LOT REPORTED ON.

Fill what you will..... - in good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration.

Whisky decanter - in good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration.

Brandy decanter - in good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration.

Gin decanter - completely missing handle.

This is the tree that never grew..... - professional restoration to rim and handle.

Convalescent home jug - in good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration.

Plain brown stoneware jug - chipping to neck rim

Printed Dewar's Whisky jug - restored handle and neck

Sprigged Dewar's Whisky jug - some very minor chipping to top rim edge of neck.

Created: Mon, 30th May 2022 16:03