LOT 1123

A Chinese famille rose porcelain vase, late 19th century, the baluster body painted with a maiden riding in a goat-drawn carriage with three attendants, beside rockwork and beneath a pine tree, iron red four-character seal mark to base, height 43cm (extensively damaged, repaired and restored).

Estimate: £100 - £150

Condition Report

1123 - Extensively broken into a large number of pieces and visibly put back together with signs of old (discoloured) restoration and later further breaks around this restoration. All the original pieces would seem to be present apart from some very small losses along some of the break lines. Please see the images on our website.
