LOT 1072

A Himalayan carved lapis lazuli figure of Buddha, probably Kashmiri, probably 12th century, modelled seated in dhyanasana, holding a vessel in his left hand, his hair tightly curled rising to a domed usnisa with pabha (halo) behind, on a double lotus base, height 14cm. Provenance: the Alain Presencer Collection.

Estimate: £500 - £800

Condition Report

Generally in good condition with typical surface scratches and wear.

Internal crack inclusion running down the left side of the figure through the halo, back and base, and another visible hairline inclusion to left hand and running to right foot.
