LOT 2361

A Frechen saltglazed stoneware bellarmine, mid-16th century, the neck with bearded mask, the globular body with central motto band between portrait roundels and acanthus leaves, height 21cm (repaired).

Estimate: £100 - £200

Condition Report

2361. The numerous online images show a large area of darker brown to one side of the body, which has had extensive restoration and this carries on around the top of the body. It appears that the piece has been in half and has therefore had extensive repairs.
