Condition Report

In good condition overall.

There are a couple of absolutely minuscule nicks to the edge of the base, more easily felt than seen, which may have at some point been polished a little as the circular base is a tiny bit misshapen - this is not immediately apparent and only noticeable on VERY close inspection.

The body of the glass does include some small opaque inclusions (smaller than grains of rice) which are a manufacturing issue - e.g. to the base and the shoulder of the figure - please see the images on our website using the zoom function.
