LOT 1626

Two Portuguese pottery majolica type life-size models of cockerels, 20th century, one of brown colouring, the other black and white, both standing proud on green glazed rectangular bases, impressed and printed factory marks, both 52cm high.

Estimate: £120 - £180

Condition Report

Both in good condition overall with typical crazing to the glaze.

The black and white bird has some minor professional restoration to the tip of its beak which really unless you know what you are looking for you would not spot.

The brown bird has an indistinct firing crack running horizontally across the base of the comb on its head, indistinct and disappears into the crazing.
