LOT 1465

A Flight, Barr & Barr Worcester rectangular pen tray, early 19th century, painted with an oval topographical named view from Killykeen Cottage, Lough Erne, County of Cavan, Ireland, within a gilt foliate scroll frame against a cobalt blue ground, flanked by two smaller floral panels, the rims gilt lined, puce painted mark to base, length 25cm (rivet repaired), together with a similar Flight, Barr & Barr oval tray painted with butterflies, insects, ferns and wild grasses against a cream ground, flanked by swan handles, impressed mark to base, length 32cm.

Provenance: The Flight Collection.

Estimate: £80 - £120

Condition Report

Rectangular - riveted repair to back base edge approx 5cm long by 1.5cm deep, interior well quite heavily scratched through use, small chip to upper front edge of gilt rim and other small nibbles and nicks to base edges/corners, rubbing to gilding of top rim edge.

Oval - some misfiring of glaze to underside at one end resulting in patchy appearance, a manufacturing fault, otherwise in good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration.
