

Glassware / Thu, 11th December 2025 / Lot 1820

LOT 1820

An opalescent uranium glass bell, in the style of John Walsh Walsh, late 19th century, decorated with a honeycomb pattern in straw colour, height 31cm, together with four other glass bells, including a cranberry example and two green examples with white edged rims (faults), together with an F. and R. Prattware part dessert service, mid 19th century, printed with landscape views, including Landscape and River Scene and The Two Anglers, within ochre ground rims decorated with gilt enriched putti amidst foliate scrollwork, comprising five plates and two dishes.

Estimate: £80 - £120

---

Condition Report

PLEASE NOTE THIS IS A PARTIAL CONDITION REPORT ON THIS LOT JUST DETAILING THE GLASS:

None of the glass bells have clangers.

Opalescent bell - indistinct curve shaped crack to top of bell where joins to handle, fairly indistinct.

Cranberry bell - in good condition.

Brown bell - handle detached but available with the lot.

2 green bells - both in good condition.

Created: Tue, 9th December 2025 14:09