

Prints, Maps and Posters / Wednesday, 5th August 2026 / Lot 63

LOT 63

Quentin Blake (British b.1932) - "What was that?" cried Mrs Twit. "Some beastly bird has dropped his dirty droppings on my head!"; 'If a creature grows slowly enough... then you will never notice that it has grown at all, especially if you see it every day. It's the same with children', two limited edition prints, illustrations from The Twits and Esio Trot, both blindstamped and numbered 43/495 and 416/495 respectively lower right, the larger 21cm x 26cm, within pale oak frames (2).

Estimate: £40 - £60

Condition Report

Both under glass, good clean condition.

Created: Wed, 29th July 2026 13:10