LOT 1475

An unusual Doulton Lambeth stoneware jug, late 19th century, decorated by Hannah Barlow, monogrammed, with high relief pâte-sur-pâte decoration of a dog and two puppies against a textured ground within a beaded frame, flanked by incised scrolling foliage, impressed and incised marks to base, height 22cm.

Estimate: £200 - £300

Condition Report

In good condition overall with no cracks, chips or restoration.

There is one tiny bead missing from the frame around the dogs, probably missing since manufacture, please see image one on our website where this is visible at 12 o'clock using the zoom function.
