LOT 1620

A good Barr Flight & Barr Worcester porcelain inkstand, circa 1804-13, of hemi-spherical form, painted with flowers against a black ground, with two pen holders, two dip wells and a ring shaped handle with aperture thumbrest, the central well with original liner and cover surrounded by an orange and gilt chevron band, puce script mark to base with incised 'B' to base of cover and main body, length 13.7cm (minor faults). Provenance: From the estate of a Sussex gentleman. Purchased from Toovey's, Lot 1517, 20th October 2022.

Estimate: £150 - £250

Condition Report

Since we previously sold this piece back in 2022 it has been professionally restored to a high standard.

One of the pen holders previously had a haircrack running from a chip to the rim edge and the other pen holder had a minor nick to the rim - both now professionally restored.

One well was previously visibly glued with some small losses - again now professionally restored.

A minute nick to the gilt edge of the cover has also been professionally restored.

There is no ink staining.

Gilding and enamels good.
