

LOT 1090

A Japanese brown patinated bronze model of a tiger by Genryusai Seiya, Meiji period, modelled standing with finely cast facial detail and patinated stripes, cast three-character signature seal to underside, length 50cm, with original carved wooden stand. Note: Genryusai Seiya was one of the leading Japanese bronze artists during the Meiji period. As master craftsman of a highly skilled Tokyo workshop, Seiya oversaw and produced bronze okimono, animal sculptures, vases and figural works of exceptionally high quality.

Estimate: £800 - £1,200

---

Condition Report

1090. Good condition, good crisp detail with cast eyes. Good patinated stripes. Typical light surface scratches and wear, but no significant damage or repairs. Good crisp signature seal to underside.
Wood stand in good condition, typical light scuffs and scratches.

Created: Tue, 10th November 2026 11:40